GUIDELINES FOR THE AUTHORS

Accepted full-text papers will be published in the reviewed Conference monograph by Springer or Inżynieria i Budownictwo – the prestigious journal for the Polish construction industry engineers from PACET. Authors should choose one of these forms of publication when sending abstracts in the first stage of paper evaluation.

Abstracts for preliminary evaluation by the Scientific Committee should be written in English in A4 format, with font Calibri 12, single line spacing, min. 1 page, max. 2 pages.

Abstract template for the authors is provided on:
<https://ecce2024.po.edu.pl/>

The abstracts should be sent by November 27, 2023, to the e-mail of the ECCE 2024 organizers:
ecce2024@po.edu.pl

Guidelines for the full-text papers will be sent by the Scientific Committee along with the information on the acceptance of the abstract.

WHAT IS INCLUDED IN THE CONFERENCE FEE FOR THE AUTHORS

One conference fee covers participation in the event with one accepted paper and publication of its extended abstract in the Conference Book. The papers can be presented in the form of multimedia presentations or posters depending on the decision of the Scientific Committee. The conference fee also covers publication in the reviewed Conference monograph by Springer if the authors choose this option. The conference fee does not cover additional costs required by PACET for publication in Inżynieria i Budownictwo if the authors choose this option.

REGISTRATION OF PARTICIPANTS

Conference participants should register using the electronic form available on the website:

THEMATIC SCOPE OF THE CONFERENCE

We invite authors of scientific papers in the fields of civil and environmental engineering, architecture, and urban planning. Their detailed scope should concern:

- reconstruction and renovation of historic buildings, durability of buildings and structures
- innovative technologies for the construction and operation of buildings in industrial, hydro-technical, municipal, and transport infrastructure in the context of environmental protection
- materials engineering, building physics, construction issues, BIM, and organization and management of investments in sustainable construction
- architecture, urban planning, and spatial planning in the context of the idea of sustainable development

The organizers invite researchers, designers, contractors, architectural and construction administration, construction supervision employees, and companies promoting modern technologies and products in the field of construction to participate in the Conference.

Companies from the construction industry interested in presentations of their offer during the Conference are invited to contact the Organizing Committee directly.

FORMS OF PARTICIPATION

- multimedia presentations and posters of papers
- multimedia presentations of companies
- advertising stands for companies

The conference program will include technical and touristic trips in the Opole region.

The conference is a form of professional development. Participants will receive a certificate of participation in the Conference.
